

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections.

It has been such a relief not to be receiving these calls that we don't want anything to change it. We used to get so many telemarketing calls that we put the use of caller ID on our phone. But that didn't do any good because they would block their names and it would read out-of-area and since we have children that live in another state we couldn't just ignore the call. Sure would appreciate that no change be made.

Sincerely,

Jill Stokes
